-Spectator Notes-

Mayor Horace Lyon in the Elks' Parade was alternately glum and beaming. We thought he was smiling when he saw one of his constituents. However, now we learn that the radio in the car was tuned in on the Michigan-Stanford football game. When Stanford would move - out would come the smile. When the Maize and Blue picked up some yardage - gloom would descend.

Ted Kuster is now on the hunt for someone to watch the Golden Bough Playhouse at night. He needs a combination janitor-custodian-nightwatchman-gardener to work from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. "Just right for a young artist or writer," says Ted. "All he has to do really is just stay awake."

Some have been wondering why we haven't printed a picture of Corum B. Jackson lately. He's been gone on vacation. But he's back now, and here he is. He won't say where he went or give any details of his trip, except that he had a good time and the sun was out almost every day.

Sidewalk superintendents in Carmel have trouble finding a place to practire their hobby. But starting a week from next Monday, they'll have a fine project to watch. Harry Geim is installing two huge gasoline tanks at his service station on the corner of San Carlos and 7th. The work will take about five days - taking out the old tanks, enlarging the holes, and putting in the new ones. They will hold 10,000 gallons as compared with his present 2,100 gallon capacity.

Mrs. Eleanor Poyer received the 35 Year Medal for her work with the American Red Cross. It was presented to her at the annual meeting by Matthew C. Jenkins, retiring chairman. Mrs. Poyer has been active in Red Cross work here since she moved to Carmel in 1946.

Jay Hannah's mural painting party was successful as anyone can see by going down 6th and looking at the results (across from the firehouse). He plans an art appreciation party Saturday night when the public will be invited to look over the mural, see the painting exhibition in the house, and enjoy "The Three B's - bread, beans and beer."

- - - - - -

Work in Carmel visibly slowed in pace as the World Series drew to a close last Tuesday. More and more people took a little time out to watch TV screens as the pressure mounted. Such places as Graham's Music Store, Wilder and Jones, and Kip's were filled with watchers impeding the natural flow of business. And the viewers also voted thanks to Graham's and W & J for opening up Sunday to let them follow the game.

Oscar and Margie Lou Balzer are selling their Dolores street department store this week and are planning "to take a rest." Oscar says he isn't sure yet what they'll do, but they will stay in Carmel, anyway. Robert and Margaret Mason, who are buying the store, are old San Francisco friends of the Balzers and have long wanted to live in Carmel.

Mrs. Helen Lightner Dean and Mrs. Charles Hampton are taking off at the end of the month for New York. They will stay for two or three weeks.

MISSION STREET PAVING PLAN GETS COUNCIL OK

At long last it appears that Mission Street between 4th and 6th Avenues will be improved. The council has accepted the city engineer's plan for the work, and the next step will be to form an assessment district.

The assessment district breaks away from the traditional Carmel procedure for improving street by a contributory plan. This method involves the city street department doing the work with materials paid for by the property owners.

The assessment district method involves calling for bids, and the cost is paid through taxes levied in the district. The work will cost an estimated $12,000 - about twice the amount estimated to do the job under the contributory plan.

The council has tried to get the property owners involved to do the work under the contributory plan as the method of improvement. However, it was unable to do this, so council members felt the matter should be turned over to the people involved - to approve or reject the formation of an assessment district.

ONE BID SUBMITTED ON SCENIC DRIVE PROJECT

Only one bid was submitted to the Carmel City Council for the improvement of Scenic Drive - Granite Construction Campany for $21,396.36. The bid will be studied by City Engineer Clayton Neill and the council before it is accepted.

The project includes the grading and surfacing of the road with special attention to drainage. In places the street will be widened. The plan calls for leaving all of the trees in place.

POLICY ON SPLITTING DRAINAGE COSTS SET

A policy on the splitting of costs for drainage work has been set by the city council. The work is to be done jointly by the city and property owners involved with the city paying about 40% of the cost.

Because storm drainage is becoming an increasing problem, city councils have long felt that drainage work is necessary. Under the present plan, a master drainage plan will be followed with selected portions done each year. The cost on these will be split between

JAY HANNAH, who is moving his radio repair shop to a tiny house on 6th avenue opposite the firehouse, asked his friends to assist in decorating a service station wall flanking his new location. They divided the area into five panels and fell to it as follows: (left to right) Larry Lushbaugh depicting his version of "Miss Carmel," Hannah himself portraying what he calls "Thunderbird," Sam Colburn doing "Martini Drinkers," as a takeoff on Cezanne's famed "Absinthe Drinker," Dick Lofton cupping his chin in an effort to conjure a title for his nameless panel, and Ellwood Graham pausing during work on "Super Spook." Tomorrow night the rickety rafters of Hannah's radio shack will vibrate with a party celebrating the artistically historic occassion. Another picture on page 15.

Travel Talk

Ready for a vacation? Here's a wonderful trip that can be taken easily in two weeks - really getting away from it all. Ten days in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Six days at the Condado Ranch or the Caribe Hilton hotels with tours arranged through the interesting spots in Puerto Rico during the first three days. Then on to the Virgin Islands for four days which include two days of sightseeing tours.

The ten days in the Carribean are arranged so that you can both see the highlights of the islands and also have time to loaf and enjoy the West Indies.

GOLDEN BOUGH TO OPEN OCTOBER 24TH

Down at the restored Golden Bough Playhouse, rapidly nearing completion, the latest in motion picture equipment is being given a daily workout to insure one hundred per cent perfect operation at and after the opening of the house to the public on Friday, October 24th. Previous to this, according to Edward Kuster, managing director, there will be two invitational previews and special programs. Guests at the first of these, Wednesday, October 22nd, will be the two hundred seventy five shareholders who are backing the community project. In the following evening the same program will be enjoyed by public officials and the families of every man who has participated in the actual construction of the plant.

The building firm which has had the responsibility for the work comprises Victor Mantilla and Benjamin Brasswell, operating as Carmel Construction Company. The plans were made and the construction supervised by Hugh W. Comstock Associates.

A unique item is the newly developed "cycloramic" motion picture screen, said to provide perfect vision from all angles. It is the first installation in this part of the country.

"Encore" is the first film schedules. It is the latest and reputed the best in the Somerset Maugham short-story film series. The film will run a minimum of two weeks, beginning Friday, October 24th.

Edward Kuster says, "As a community project, the restored Golden Bough will take up where it left off when fire destroyed the little plant more than three years ago. The film program policies will remain unchanged; no popcorn, no young children, no double bills, no screen advertising; there will be two showings nightly, at seven and at nine, with matinees Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays at two thir-

Dick Sumner, the natty and personable proprietor of the Stocking Shop, has traveled a good deal of ground and enjoyed a number of careers before coming to Carmel in 1946.

Born in Concord, New Hampshire, and educated in finance at the University of Pennsylvania, his first expedition into bread-winning was as an agent Harry M. Woods, song-writer of the twenties. Ensconced in Greenwich Village, Woods wrote and Dick sold "When the Red Red Robin Comes Bob Bob Bobbin' Along," "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover," and "River Stay Away from My Door" – songs as popular as their titles were long.

When the lure of the big city and of agenting began to wane, Dick decided to cross the continent to Hollywood where he went to work in movies –enjoying three 9 month contract terms, and appearing in minor roles, until the third time around his "option was dropped. Since he laughingly calls himself a "sensational flop" in movies, it doesn't seem that the dropping broke much aside from the option.

A trip to Europe in '34 came next, and Dick toured the continent, before settling down live in England for a while. On his return to the States, he married Florence Bond, a newspaperwoman, who wrote for the North American Newspaper Alliance, under the name of Ann Demarest. The Newlyweds set out for Sea Island, Georgia, of all places, where Dick turned to . . .fishing.

"I had a little income," he says, "and could pick up $18 pr $20 a day fishing. Used to bring the fish in, sell 'em to restaurants, go home and put on a tuxedo, then go back to the restaurant and eat a fish dinner. . .for $5 a dinner!"

During the war Dick "met a man" and went temporarily in the lumber business in San Francisco, procuring wood for the Navy. From there, he went to Redding, Pennsylvania as head cost accountant for the American Die and Tool Co. It was in Redding that his resolve to come back to California was formed. He was driving along an icy street, when his car went into a skid. Before the car straightened out, Dick's mind was made up – back to the sunny state.

The Sumners arrived in Carmel, where they bought their shop, and have been happily hosierying since.

Dick is a Kiwanian and active in little theater on the Peninsula, while Florence "does most of the work" at the shop. The family is rounded out by Laddie, a golden cocker.

Agent, actor, accountant, and angler. . .Dick is, as well, vigorous, amusing, and as his career indicates, a little antic.

Carmel Valley Sun Spots

by PARKER KIMBALL

The Planning Commission graybeards may think sizeable representation of Plab B proponents at the Sept. 29 hearing was not sufficient indication of general sentiment, which is unlikely, or they may just want to see for themselves the comparative merits of Plans A and B in the raw, or they may want to show themselves as being completely analytical and impartial, or they may have just wanted luncheon in the beautiful surroundings of Carmel Valley. . .At any rate, all of them who can hop, hobble or ride this far will be the luncheon guests of list of fund contributors (ugly word, except that both Plans A and B components will be invited to contribute) who will stand the gaff for luncheon at Los Laureles Lodge, noon, Saturday, Oct. 11. . .Afterwards their honors will ride, walk, or otherwise investigate the two routes while representatives from presumably both sides (if Plan A's bashful champions show up) will tick off the merits and demerits of both sides. . .Following this tour will be a public huddle with the commissioners at the Tularcitos Scho ol to which any interested parties may bring their pros and cons, but to which representatives of the several civic and social groups of the Valley and road committees and Upper Valley Advisory Planning Committee have Ibeen specificallyi invited. . .Whether or not a decision will be reached the same day is anybody's guess. . .

The Tularcitos School Board is still looking for a buyer for its old Number One school house which will be supercargo when the new school is completed around Christmastide or before. . .They're asking minimum bids of $12,500, which for the buildings and scenic property (almost 1½ acres) wouldn't seem too much to expect. . .yet to date only two bids. . .both in the middle four figures. . .since no brokers or wise guys have rushed in so far to make a fast buck on it, perhaps the board's sights are set a little high. . .But again, from our cursory knowledge of property, it would seem to us a good buy. . .Bids are being asked again and bidders may get in their offers as late as 8 p.m., Tues., Oct. 14, which is the next school board meeting time. . .Brokers may bid for themselves, or for clients, provided in the latter case the amount of commission and broker's name is made kn own. Highest bid after broker's fee will take the jackpot. . .Oral bids are in order after sealed bids have been opened, provided oral bid is 5% higher than the highest sealed bid submitted. . . .

One of the payoffs for being a non-paid Tularcitos Volunteer fireman is the parties the laddies throw for themselves two or three times yearly. . . One of them, a roast beef dinner at Los Laureles Lodge is set for Sat., Nov. 1. . .Only firemen and wives invited. . . but if you are a volunteer, call Wendell Redding, social committee chairman, 9625, and reserve yourself a hunk of steer, rare, medium, or well . ..well, however you eat it. ..Two new probationary firemen named at Monday's general fire meeting; Clyde Jennings and Jack Uzell who will go into their 6 months training period. . .$25 voted by

A LARGE turnout enjoyed the Carmel Associated Sportsmen's first shoot last weekend. Held at the club's new range in the Valley, the meet included a steak barbeque. Top picture shows some of the group in front of the clubhouse. In the foreground are Bill Ecklund (right) and Ralph Wilson and their wives enjoying the food. In the center, J.B. Ehman is talking with Mrs. Lloyd Alton and an unidentified woman. Jim Burkholder can be seen looking into the clubhouse, while Red Carey and Howell Armor watch the firing line.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Our Town Wouldn't Take a "Back Seat"

Well, the "battle of the buses" has been settled! Our town is again friendly with Balesville.

Everything started when buses began going through our town with a big sign on them saying SHOP IN BALESVILLE. The bus line is owned in Balesville and operates over here on a franchise.

Windy Taylor was all for putting up barricades—he kept calling up the police and the bus company. Finally Judge Cunningham invited the Balesville Chamber of Commerce to meet with ours at Andy's Garden Tavern. Over a good meal and glass of beer we all reached a compromise without any trouble. Those signs now read SHOP HERE IN TOWN. Everyone's happy.

From where I sit, it shows how problems disappear once both sides get together and try to work things out. Naturally we're all a little different. Some like soda pop, for instance, and some like beer. So what? We all have to ride along through life together. Why not make it a pleasant trip?

Joe Marsh

THIS IS THE PLACE THAT HANNAH FOUND - - Radioman and artist, Jay Hannah daubs at his own section of the spectacular and controversial five-man mural at the new location of his shop on 6th avenue across from the firehouse. He grins ecstatically over the sheer fun of painting a surrealist work which is titled, "Thunderbird." At present there seems to be some question as to whether the building meets code requirments as a place of business. Anyway the mural has livened up a rather dull wall.

GARDENING FOR HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

By CHARLES W. DELANEY

GARDENING AT NIGHT

Recently, I gave a talk on gardening at a service club. Across the table sat a young man with his guide-dog. During our conversation he cheerfully said, "I am the only man in this room who can garden at night."

This young man might be sightless, but he certainly is not blind. He is profoundly interested in flowers, their care and propagation, with such a handicap as few of us could surmount.

We have worked with people whose eyes are full of light but who see nothing in this beautiful world of nature; not appreciating flowers, trees, birds, the stars of the sky. They sail on a sea of mental blindness, contented with the mere act of seeing without the joy of seeing the beauty that is all about us. Real enjoyment of beauty requires the development of imagination.

This young man's imagination has made his life intensely practical by filling his leisure hours with pleasant energies. To know the weight of darkness, one must have seen the light. One cannot conceive a world without beauty, and yet we have seen some who are actually blind to beauty.

Pushkin, who loved flowers, said in one of his essays, "I am glad I have learned to love flowers. They are poems of nature and reveal to us how much God loves color."

A woman looking at a painting of a sunset by Turner said, "I never saw any such colors in a sunset, Mr. Turner." The artist replied, "Madame, don't you wish you could."

If we think to look for the beautiful in nature, it has a beneficient egfect on our character – it is medecine for the soul.

This young man gentleman made me feel very humble and deeply grateful for the blessing I have in being able to see. He was so very enthusiastic in his experiences in gardening at night. He told me how he planted bulbs in cans and wire baskets as protection against the invasion of gophers - and other gardening activities I had thought of as chores. His wonderful cheerful mental attitude and his real enjoyment and enthusiasm for his hobby was to me a marvellous lesson for living.

Those who work with plants or study any field of nature are always thinking about and searching for her wisdom. For when we search, we find far greater things in her teachings than we will ever find in books. I remember some words of Wordsworth, "Come forth into the light of things, let nature be your teacher."

Imagine being afraid of a tomato!

Early Americans called tomatoes "love apples" and didn't dare to eat them.

Then, on September 26, 1820, in the courthouse square at Salem, New Jersey, a certain Colonel Johnson ate a tomato and proved to an assemblage of 2,000 that such a superstition was nonsense.

An equally important event, as far as the tomato was concerned, occurred when scientists of American Can Company, after years of patient research, overcame the last obstacle to the successful canning of tomato juice.

Last year, California grew 2,291,000 tons of tomatoes for making juice and other tomato products. Because of this huge production, you—and people everywhere—enjoy a plentiful source of Vitamin C.

This is just another example of how canmakers and the canning industry contribute to the well-being of a population.

As California's many nutritious fruits, vegetables, and other foods have been made available in modern containers, people everywhere have enjoyed an improved diet. And more and more income has been created right here in California.
